In the area of Buzet and Roč, surrounded by the beautiful green landscape of inland Istria, several agricultural plots with a total area of approximately 60,000 m² are offered for sale.

The land is predominantly arable and offers excellent potential for various agricultural purposes, including plantations, olive groves, vineyards or other forms of agricultural production. The peaceful natural surroundings and substantial total area make this an attractive opportunity for both private buyers and professional agricultural investors.

Preference is given to the sale of the entire land portfolio as one package, representing a rare opportunity to acquire approximately 60,000 m² of agricultural land in northern Istria. However, depending on the buyer's requirements, there is also the possibility of purchasing individual plots or smaller sections.

An excellent opportunity for anyone looking for a substantial amount of agricultural land in a peaceful and natural Istrian setting, whether for agricultural production or as a long-term investment.
